A Real American President

"I am very glad, indeed, to have this opportunity to address the two houses directly and to verify for myself the impression that the president of the United States is a person, not a mere department of government hailing congress from some isolated island of jealous power and sending a message, not speaking naturally and with his own voice; that he is a human being trying to co-operate with other human beings in a common service. After this pleasant experience I shall feel quite normal in all our dealings with one another."--President Wilson's introductory remarks before the joint session.

IRVINGTON SCHOOL

Closes After Successful Term-- Appropriate Exercises Held-- Various Departments Succeeded.

Irvington, April 21.—(Special.)—The school days are over for awhile. Girls and boys have thrown aside books and joined in the summer sports. The first term of Irvington Graded School has just closed and all join in praises to Prof. C. A. Tanner and coterie of competent teachers who have had charge of the various departments. It is indeed a regrettable fact that Mrs. R. B. McClothlan was unable to complete her term, but a better assistant could not have been secured than Miss Gibson.

Quite a number of promotions were granted which speaks well for teachers and pupils alike. Mrs. Tanner has put aside school duties and has assumed the responsibility of housekeeper.

Rev. May, Rev. Waggoner and J. M. Herndon gave some very interesting talks at the close of the exercises.

Miss May Watlington has returned to her home at Hardinsburg. It is with regret that we give her up, as she has won the hearts of the people through her kindness to the little tots in the primary department. Here's wishing her success were'er she goes.

New Home In Kausas City

Mr. Babbage: Our new home (College Ave.) is now completed. Change The Breckenridge News address (418 W 11th) to present respectfully, Mrs. P. W. Roberts.

Mrs. DeHaven Honored.

Two hundred delegates from Kentucky were commissioned Thursday by Gov. McCreary to represent Kentucky at the Southern Sociological Congress at Atlanta April 25 to 27, inclusive. Mrs. Wickliffe DeHaven and W. J. Mott were the delegates appointed from Breckenridge county.

Mrs. DeHaven has also been elected by the Woman's Missionary Society to represent the Cloverport Auxiliary at Elkhart, Ky., May 7-12 at the annual conference.

Nowlin-Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Stewart-Miller announce the marriage of their son, Percy Stewart-Miller, to Miss Heron Crosthwaite Nowlin, on Thursday afternoon, April 16. The ceremony, which was a quiet, simple affair, was held at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Nowlin, in Mt. Pleasant, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. D'Arcy Stewart-Miller will arrive in Owensboro today, to be the guests of the family of the groom for several days.—Owensboro Messenger.

Delicious Flannel Cakes.

The editor of The Breckenridge News and his family have been enjoying delicious cakes for breakfast. The reason they were so delicious was because they were made of the Perfection Self-Rising Flour. This Lewisport flour has the "baking powder" already in it which is a great saving of money. Besides, the cakes are as light as a feather. A good deal is being said about this self rising flour, but one does not know how satisfactory it is until it is tried.

CORN CLUB

Has Meeting Saturday--Women Will be Allowed to Join--Enthusiasm Over Plans Aroused.

Irvington, April 20.—(Special.)—The Corn Growers Club met Saturday afternoon. Prof. Hendricks, of the Experiment Station at Lexington, attended and gave a splendid talk "On the Cultivation of Corn." Prof. Hendricks suggested that women be allowed the privilege to join the club, and this motion was sanctioned by all present.

Mrs. C. L. Chamberlain made an interesting talk in regard to the county obtaining a County Agriculturist. The county fair was discussed. We look forward to this with great interest.

Funerals Held Monday.

The funerals of J. L. Culley and his son, Joe Culley, were held in Louisville Monday afternoon. The father's death was soon followed by that of his son, who lived in Paducah.

Entertainment at Guston.

On Saturday night, May 3, at 8 o'clock, the Young People's Club of Guston will give an entertainment for the benefit of the State Sunday School work. The play, "Then and Now," represents "The Old Deestrick School" of forty years ago, and a modern college play. Admission 20 cents. Children over five years 10 cents.

H. L. Roth Dies.

Information has been received here of the death of H. L. Roth, of Ludlow, Ky. He died Wednesday, April 16, of pneumonia after an illness of a few days.

Mr. Roth was fifty-one years old and married to Miss Nannie Witt twenty-one years ago. She with seven children survive. Their eighth child, Lamont Roth, twenty months old, died Monday before his father's death.

Miss Mamie Witt is also ill at her sister's home in Ludlow. Miss Witt and Mrs. Roth are sisters of Mrs. Selby McCracken, of this city, who will go to see them Friday. Their old friends in Cloverport regret to learn of their illness and sorrow. Mr. Roth left three thousand dollars life insurance to his wife.

Weedman-Armstrong.

Miss Hattie Weedman and Mr. Chas.

Armstrong, popular young people of Sample, were united in marriage at 7:30 last Sunday in the M. E. church at that place. Rev. E. O. Cottrell, of Cloverport, officiated. A crowded church witnessed the ceremony. After the wedding Bro. Cottrell preached on "The Marriage Supper." Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Cordrey, John, Jr., and Mrs. Jolly, from Cloverport, attended the wedding. Bro. Cottrell and Mr. and Mrs. Cordrey and John, Jr., were entertained in the delightful home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Miller, returning to Cloverport Monday morning.

Mr. Dicks Dead.

Dan Dicks died at his home at Mill Stone Sunday morning, and the funeral was held at German Ridge, Ind., yesterday. Mr. Dicks leaves a wife, and was a nephew of Mrs. Chas. Hamman, of this city.

Money For Good Roads.

Paul Compton, treasurer, has sent out a statement of the amount of money available to each District in the county for use on the roads. The amounts are estimated.

1st District	$2980.27
2nd "	2227.95
3rd "	2014.66
4th "	2275.23
5th "	812.18
6th "	1396.51
Bridges	2869.48

Of these amounts $650 in the second, third, fifth and sixth districts has been expended for rock crushers.

The following are the deputy road supervisors: First, Taylor Meador, Second, W. C. Pate; Third, J. T. Basham; Fourth, Wm. Norton; Fifth, J. A. Paul; Sixth, Pal Garner.

W. C. Pate, supervisor for the second, Cloverport district, says he is ready to put the crusher to work on the pike if the farmers will help haul the rock to the crusher. Now let's all get busy. The Breckenridge News will furnish the price of one team a day for hauling rock. Come right along, everybody, farmers, business men, lawyers, doctors, and get this enterprise started for a model road in Breckenridge county.

Petition By 250 School Children to School Board.

The school children have petitioned the School Board of the Cloverport High School asking for sanitary closets. Their reason for doing this is as follows:

The toilets at the Public School are insanitary; exposed to flies, and are a menace to the health of the children and people of Cloverport. They are of such a nature that if the people of Cloverport knew of their real character, I feel sure the School Board would build modern sanitary toilets within the week.

From my experience with hundreds of cases, I am positive that more than fifteen per cent. of the school children of this school are affected with hook-worm disease and other intestinal parasites. These may be easily cured, and all cases can be prevented by using water-tight, fly-proof closets, so that the excretions from the body will not find their way into the food and water of the people.

W. L. HEIZER,
State Registrar of Vital Statistics.

Clean-Up-Day

For Cloverport, Thursday, April 24, 1913

"I designate Thursday, April 24th, as Clean-Up-Day for Cloverport. The town will furnish teams to haul away all your rubbish and trash on this day. If you do not comply with this proclamation, you will have to haul your garbage away at your own expense. JOHN A. BARRY, Mayor of Cloverport

Why Couldn't Breckenridge County Get the Gift of $1,000?

Why not the farmers of Breckenridge county get busy and form a County Farm Improvement Association and get in a position to comply with the conditions necessary to receive the gift of $1,000 offered the county from the Rosenwald fund through the agency of the Crop Improvement Committee of Chicago.

Julius Rosenwald, millionaire Chicagoan, wishing to promote the cause of the nation's agriculture, set apart a fund of one million dollars, divided into one thousand equal parts available, one to each of the first thousand counties in the country making application for the same, and agreeing to the conditions accompanying the gift, among which there must be a bona fide association of dues-paying membership and that the county must raise an amount at least equal to that received from the fund and also employ an agricultural expert. Many counties in this and other States have complied with the conditions, received the gift and employed an agricultural expert, and say it is the best money they ever made to aid in improving agriculture.

It is time this county got out of the rut of backward farm methods. As the agricultural expert will have the National and State Governments back of him, the farmers of the county will be able to go to him for advice on whatever subject they choose. He will be a sort of general physician for the farmer. He will be in a position to give them the best market prices, suggest the best methods of placing the farm products on the market, and in many other ways aid the farmer to secure the greatest dividends from his farm.

Many farmers have said that the Agricultural College was turning out a lot of students and jobs must be furnished and this is why the idea of county agent is coming into vogue. This is not true. It takes men of the highest type to handle such a job as this.

The county agent would have an office and his service be open to all the farmers in the county. All paying $1 can become members of the association. There must be a thousand farmers and others interested in the betterment of Breckenridge county that will want membership in this association.

I hope some one will become interested enough in the matter to call a meeting of representatives from different parts of the county with a view of organizing an association. I have the plan under which the county must qualify sent me by the Crop Improvement Committee, and would be glad to put it in the hands of an association. I hope to hear soon of some one taking up the matter. Any further information that I can give in relation to the association and county agricultural agent will be gladly given to any one interested.

Mrs. Chas. L. Chamberlain.

The Facts of Our Day.

The Democratic purpose with respect to the tariff question is well described in the following extracts from President Wilson's first message to Congress:

"While the whole face and method of our industrial and commercial life were being changed beyond recognition the tariff schedules have remained what they were before the change began."

"For a long time we have sought, in our tariff schedules, to give each group

Women of Middle Age

From 40 to 50 Woman's Critical Period.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, severe headaches, melancholia, dread of impending evil, palpitation of the heart, irregularity, constipation and dizziness are promptly treated by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life.

This is the most critical period of woman's life and she who neglects the care of her health at this time invites incurable disease and pain. Why not be guided by the experience of others and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It is an indisputable fact that this grand old remedy has helped thousands of women to pass through this trying period with comfort and safety. Thousands of genuine and honest testimonials support this fact.

From Mrs. HENRY HEAVILIN, Cadiz, Ohio.

Fort Worth, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and derived great benefit from its use. It carried me safely through the Change of Life when I was in bad health. I had that all gone feeling most of the time, and headache constantly. I was very nervous and the hot flashes were very bad. I had tried other remedies and doctors, but did not improve until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has now been some time since I took the Compound and I have had no return of my old complaints. I always praise your remedies to weak women."—Mrs. HENRY HEAVILIN, R. F. D. No. 5, Cadiz, Ohio.

From Mrs. EDWARD B. HILBERT, Fleetwood, Pa.

Fleetwood, Pa.—"During the Change of Life I was hardly able to be around at all. I always had a headache and I was so dizzy and nervous that I had no rest at night. The flashes of heat were so bad sometimes that I did not know what to do.

"One day a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me a strong, well woman. I am very thankful that I followed my friend's advice, and I shall recommend it as long as I live. Before I took the Compound I was always sickly and now I have not had medicine from a doctor for years. You may publish my letter."—Mrs. EDWARD B. HILBERT, Fleetwood, Pa.

From Mrs. F. P. MULLENDORE, Munford, Ala.

Munford, Ala.—"I was so weak and nervous while passing through the Change of Life that I could hardly live. My husband had to nail rubber on all the gates for I could not stand to have a gate slam.

"I also had backache and a fullness in my stomach. I noticed that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was advertised for such cases and I sent and got a bottle. It did me so much good that I kept on taking it and found it to be all you claim. I recommend it to all women afflicted as I was."—Mrs. F. P. MULLENDORE, Munford, Ala.

of manufacturers or producers what they themselves thought that they needed in order to maintain a practically exclusive market as against the rest of the world."

"We have built up a set of privileges and exemptions from competition, behind which it was easy by any, even the crudest, forms of combination to organize monopoly."

"Nothing is normal, nothing is obliged to stand the tests of efficiency and economy, in our world of big business."

"We must abolish everything that bears even the semblance of privilege or any kind of artificial advantage, and put our business men and producers under the stimulation of a constant necessity to be efficient, economical and enterprising masters of competitive supremacy; better workers and merchants than any in the world."

"The object of the duties henceforth laid must be effective competition, the whetting of American wits by contact with the wits of the rest of the world."

"We must build up trade, especially foreign trade."

"We must build up industry, as well, and must adopt freedom in place of artificial stimulation only so far as it will build up, not pull down."

"Our object is clear. If our motive is above just challenge and only an occasional error of judgment is chargeable against us we shall be fortunate."

"We have to deal with the facts of our day; with the facts of no other, and to make laws which square with those facts."

Read these paragraphs to your high tariff neighbor and help him to understand that the Democratic tariff platform, program is a constructive program—a program that will result in the greatest good to the greatest number.

NOTICE

This is to give notice that we will on and after the 1st day of April, 1913, sell coal strictly for cash, and that our prices will be 11 cents per bushel for lump, 9 cents for nut and 6 cents for nut P. and slack. Also all parties in debt to us must come and settle at once as we are needing the money.

HOW TO SUCCEED

During the last few years, conditions in all lines of business, even professional life, have changed so completely that every man is waking up to the fact that in order to win success he must specialize and learn to do some one thing and do it well.

So it is with any article that is sold to the people. It must have genuine merit or no amount of advertising will maintain the demand for the article.

For many years we have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy. From the very beginning the proprietors had so much confidence in it that they invited every one to test it, free of cost, before purchasing.

It is a physician's prescription. They have on file thousands of letters received from former sufferers who are now enjoying good health as a result of its use.

However, if you wish first to try a sample bottle, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention this paper. They will gladly forward you a sample bottle by mail, absolutely free.

Regular sizes for sale at all druggists—fifty-cents and one-dollar.

The Telltale

Tick of Time

We have much for you under this heading, and will have to give it in small doses. Your appreciation of our breed-stock is evidenced by the rush of patronage that comes to us every day.

We in turn acknowledge our appreciation by placing at your free use two remedies that will greatly assist in making barren mares breed, and carry their foals to full time, to-wit:

Dr. Foote's "Aid to Conception" and his "Anti Abortient" Remedy

These are not offered with the claim that they are "infallible," but with the full knowledge that an old doctor's experience of a third of a century is worth much in aiding conditions favorable to maternity. These remedies prepared by the old doctor will be supplied free to our patrons with full directions how to use.

Non-patrons can have the treatment at $2.50 per month per mare, full directions with each treatment. Call the attention of neighbors whose mares fail to breed, or that habitually abort to above proposition, and it applies to cows as well as mares.

We are especially anxious to book mares that have only been raising colts every second or third year. You have all to gain and nothing to lose if you are our patron, and this proposition goes hand in hand with our B. P. A. movement.

Put the Load Where It Belongs

If you are to make the most of your time and opportunities, you must have efficient tools to work with. You have enough hard, tiresome work without wasting your time and energy at wood-sawing, water-pumping, grindstone-turning and the like. Use an I H C engine to furnish power for such work. In less time, and with far less effort, the wood is sawed, the stock watered, the tools sharpened, all at one-tenth the expense of hand work. Put the load where it belongs. Buy and use an

I H C Oil and Gas Engine

It is the cheapest engine you can buy because it costs less per year of service than others. It is so powerful that it will carry a load ten per cent or more above its rated horse power. Perfect combustion makes it economical.

I H C oil and gas engines operate on gas, gasoline, naphtha, kerosene, distillate, alcohol. Sizes are 1 to 50-horse power. They are built in every approved style; vertical, horizontal, portable, stationary, skidded, air-cooled, and water-cooled. Sawing, pumping, spraying outfits, etc. I H C oil tractors for plowing, threshing, etc., 12 to 60-horse power.

Write our nearest office for catalogues and any information desired if you wish to learn what an I H C engine will do for you.

GETS FIVE YEARS

For Entering Car--St. Louisan First Convicted Under Law Protecting Interstate Shipments.

St. Louis, Apr. 18.—A sentence of five years in the Leavenworth Penitentiary was imposed on Philip Nagel by Judge Dyer in the United States District Court yesterday following his conviction on a charge of having entered a box car in the Bremen yards about two months ago.

The indictment and conviction of Nagel is the first under the new Federal statute making it a felony to break into an interstate shipment of merchandise or other freight.

Nagel, in his defense, declared he was driven into the car where he was captured at the point of a revolver in the hands of a private watchman of the Terminal Railroad Association.

The car Nagel entered contained an interstate shipment of scrap copper and originated on the Santa Fe System. The jury deliberated about an hour before returning a verdict against him.

Accidents will happen, but the best regulated families keep Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil for such emergencies. Two sizes 25 and 50c at all stores.—Adv.

POSSIBLY THE FIRST MUSIC

Bagpipes Have Been Known Since There Has Been Any Record Written in History.

Bagpipes are the Bulgarian national instrument. Until lately the servants who waited on the Turkish grand vizier in Constantinople were mutes, though not, as in former times, persons specially mutilated, but children born deaf and dumb. They use a language of signs, with a special gesture to describe the representative of each nation. To indicate the Bulgarian agent they imitate a man playing the bagpipes. It was not the Bulgarians who invented the pipes, however. They are among the oldest of musical instruments. An ancient gem shows Apollo with them, and two instruments in the book of Daniel are believed to have been bagpipes.

The bagpipes range not only in time from Apollo and the Bible to the present day, but geographically from China to Spain and Great Britain. England is said to have given them to Scotland. One country, however, finally lost a peculiarly severe form of the instrument. This was the Sardinian "lanna," which had three pipes, all of which were in the piper's mouth, and was played by rubbing strips of wax up and down over the holes.

The work was so exhausting that nearly all the pipers died young. In 1845 George Burdett came across one who had survived to the age of 80. But he was the last of the lanneda players, and when he died, the instrument was played no more.

Affliction of Stammering.
Stammering is a hesitancy of speech, the result of an affection of the vocal and enunciative organs. There are many opinions as to the cause of this affection. The person affected may be relieved by following certain rules, the principal one being cultivation of the habit of speaking correctly and not fast. The sufferer must study the process of speech, the relation of breath to articulate sounds, the position of the tongue and other organs in molding the outward stream of air.

A TALK WITH A CLOVERPORT MAN

Mr. J. C. Weatherholt, of Cloverport Street, Tells of an Interesting Experience.

There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the anxious sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give here an interview with a Cloverport man:

J. C. Weatherholt, grocer, Cloverport, Ky., says: "Two years ago I had little idea that I would ever be well again. I had settled up my affairs, believing that it would be impossible for me to last a great while longer. The pain in my back was terrible, especially when I stooped. It seemed as if someone had run a knife into me. My heart action was irregular. I became dizzy and often had to catch hold of something to keep from falling. My knee joints were swollen to twice their normal size and I had lost weight until I was a mere skeleton. The kidney secretions contained sediment and the passages were painful. Doctors' medicine did me no good, neither did the so-called kidney cures I took. A friend, had been cured by Doan's Kidney Pills and I decided to give them a trial, procuring my supply at Fisher's Drug Store. I was surprised and delighted with the results of their use. I was soon cured." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.—Advertisement.

Photographs by Wire.

The Korn process for transmitting pictures through the means of a wire connecting two distant points has fully demonstrated its practicability where moderate distances are concerned, but the inventor is not satisfied with these results, for the reason that the device is primarily intended for the use of newspapers, and in this role the apparatus will be of little value unless great distances can be spanned, and so the inventor is working with the object of perfecting the machine to the point that pictures may be sent across the ocean. Dr. Korn has under consideration an invitation to visit the United States, with the view of applying his system to a line between New York and San Francisco, which he may undertake before trying the transatlantic experiments.

Harsh physics react, weaken the bowels, will lead to chronic constipation. Doan's Regulents operate easily. 25c a box at all stores.—Adv.

Child Floored a Comedian.

It was at a recent theatrical performance in one of our big cities. A comedian was in the course of delivering a long but not always uniformly funny soliloquy for which he is famous. Suddenly during a lull there came an unexpected comment from the stalls. It was in the high treble voice of a girlhood, and the words, audible on the stage and in several parts of the auditorium, were: "Mum-mie, I wouldn't mind if they pulled down the blind now." It was dramatic criticism of a dramatic kind; and the outspoken child was not the only person in the house who would have had no objection to a dropping of the curtain, though she was the only one to say so. At any rate, the curtain fell.

STRENGTH OF THE GRIZZLY

Giant of Far West Carries Cow Easily Over Mountain, Without Resting.

It is related that a grizzly bear that had one of its forepaws so shot as to render it useless employed the other to drag its weight of 1,000 pounds up an incline almost precipitous, a seemingly impossible feat, the Fur News states.

A Californian asserts that while in the mountains he observed a big grizzly in the act of carrying a dead cow home to her cubs. From his position on the mountainside the Californian could follow every movement of the bear in the sparsely timbered valley below. He contends that the big beast carried the cow in her forepaws for a distance of three miles, across jagged rocks several feet in height, over fallen logs around the rocky mountainside, where even a mule could not get a foothold, to a narrow trail up the steep mountain.

This bear, it appears, stopped not a moment for rest, but proceeded straight on. The observer followed her and about half a mile from her lair shot her. The cow, it is reported, weighed at least 1,200 pounds, while the weight of the grizzly was about 450.

They may also be made to contribute to heart knowledge—it depends on the teacher. There are many things outside of text books which should be taught, and which will contribute to general information and to character building. The alert teacher, who studies his School Journals and his text books and the child, will find out many things. No man or woman who does not love the work better than the check should teach school.

BIG BISCUIT NOT DIGESTABLE,

SAYS DR. HEIZER HERE MONDAY NIGHT.

Through the efforts of the Woman's Missionary Society the Methodist church plans were perfected to have the health lecture given Monday night. The audience was exceptionally large, attended by the leading citizens—more men than women—young men and many school children.

Dr. Richmond could not get here and the appointment was filled by Dr. Heizer, all expenses were paid by the State. Dr. Heizer's lecture was splendid, and earnest attention was given him which he noticed and appreciated. He was introduced by Mayor Barry and proceeded with his lecture by saying that this was a new era in Kentucky. The church, the schools, the physicians and the press, instead of working independently of each other as in years gone by, are working together to do all that can be possibly done to make people good. Dr. Heizer said it is easier for a man to be good when he is well and that is why the State is going hand in hand with the church to eliminate tuberculosis, typhoid and summer complaint of children.

One of the first remarks Dr. Heizer made was about big biscuits, and the women present decided to be sure to get their biscuits small enough to be digestible, they would have to cut them out with their thumbles. "Big biscuits, as large as a saucer, not cooked thoroughly and without crusts of brown, could not be digested by the human stomach," said Dr. Heizer.

The care of babies, the proper attention to the dairy and cow stables, was urged and reasons illustrated by stereopticon views. Sympathy went out to the baby who could not be nourished by God's plan and instead had to be brought up on a bottle.

Dr. Heizer urged the necessity of concrete toilets for Cloverport. He made the dangers of the open toilets so plain that everyone will want to make the pits fly-proof to keep the flies from taking turn about visiting these places and the home. No one can take a drink of water now without wondering if the cistern or well is free from a drainage from a toilet or stable on one's own premises or from his neighbor's lot.

Dr. Heizer's lecture was received with so much understanding that the Rev. Mr. Walker, Prof. Culton, Mayor Barry, Mr. John D. Babbage and others, expressed that the work of preserving health by cleanliness must be begun in Cloverport at once. Plans were made to ask the School Board to build concrete toilets for the Cloverport High School and to make an effort to get these sanitary conditions in the alleys and back yards of our town.

WHERE WORTH GETS STYLES.

M. Jacques Worth, whose brains gave the world the hobble, the directoire and other fashions from France, spoke to five hundred young women in New York last week on style. He told them, too, how he got his inspiration for a late Oriental gown. One day two little apprentice girls playing on the stairs of his shop caught his eye and he asked one where she got the pretty waist. Out of her little old last year's waist, she tells M. Jacques. In putting it on, the child had given it a certain careless twist to the collar, had a snip of lace, and a tuck pinned in it to make it fit. One glance at this play waist and Worth dashes to his designing room and a new waist appears. This is the way the designer gets styles. When he was inspired for the hobble the little girl must have been dressed up in a bolster slip.

JUNE ROSES.

Miss Helen Keller attended the International Flower Show in New York last week. She was allowed to touch the flowers, readily identifying most of them by touch and smell. The motion pictures at this show were wonders. Instead of wild West scenes pictures of flower gardens in England, Holland, Germany and Japan were given. With beautiful moving pictures, sweet music by a big orchestra, and ten thousand roses, the show must have been grand to the thousands who attended. Wonder how many roses we will have in The Breckenridge News homes this June? Hardinsburg always has a world of lovely roses and there are several gardens in Cloverport. Our town is rich with pink ramblers and it is worth living all winter just to see them bloom in the spring.

THE FARMER'S THOUSAND DOLLARS.

A County Farm Improvement Association would be a splendid organization for Breckenridge county. Mrs. Chas. Chamberlain writes of the organization and we publish her article. The Crop Improvement Association of Chicago is giving out the million dollars from the Rosenwald fund for the farmers. We should think that some of the Boys' Corn Clubs could take up the matter and form an association.

The "Bull Moose" leaders of the Second Congressional District have set down good and hard on the proposition of fusion with the Republicans for the offices to be filled this year, and have issued a statement of ten reasons why the Progressives should hold themselves aloof from the g. o. p. The statement is signed by E. G. Barrett, Progressive chairman of the Second district. The reasons are in brief, because the State primary law is against fusion; because the Progressive State and national organization is opposed to it; because the "Bull Moose" have cut loose from the Republican party; because the g. o. p. has not changed its policies; because the Republican party in Kentucky has not been reorganized since the "Bull Moose" left it; because fusion with such a bunch would be disadvantageous and discreditable to the Progressives. A copy of the statement and reasons was sent to Col. E. T. Franks, Republican State Chairman.

Those who sign the nominating petitions of the candidates in the coming August primary shortly to be circulated would do well to bear in mind that when they affix their signatures that they pledge themselves to vote for the candidate whose petition they sign and agree not to indorse the petition of any other candidate for the same office. Any voter signing the petition of two or more candidates for the same office will be in a very awkward position, for besides counting for neither, the nominating petitions are public property, and are preserved for six months after the primary.

Postmaster General Burleson has announced that it was the Administration's policy to continue all Republican Postmasters now in office to the end of their terms, provided no charges were sustained against their efficiency. This is good for the "ins" but a little hard on the "outs" who will have to bide their time. President Wilson is running things at Washington, and we are with him right or wrong.

The best business men take pains to use the best stationery. Every farmer, minister, club woman, missionary woman, home maker, society girls and men of every rank and station, should turn to the printer and engraver for information about design, color and lettering. Correct stationery is a constant source of inspiration to both, the one who uses it and the recipient.

The Hon. W. Sherman Ball and the Hon. John Akers, workers at the county seat for the g. o. p., were here Tuesday trying to co-operate with some of the late members of the g. o. p. along lines of human service and a once g. o. p. The gentlemen certainly have our best wishes for an early crop of corn.

The Leitchfield Gazette says: "Judge Layman gave splendid satisfaction to lawyers and litigants, and that he conducted the court with unusual expedition and marked ability." The Judge is giving general satisfaction wherever he has held courts. His next court is at Brandenburg next Monday.

The Bull Moosers are getting busy framing up a full county ticket. Those mentioned for places are Dr. S. P. Parks, for the Legislature; Luke Reeves, for the State Senate; Tite Adkins, for County Clerk; Judge Ahl, for County Judge, and M. Weatherholt, for Sheriff.

Do you believe if Judge Ahl had been true to the "log cabin" the Republican Fiscal Court would have dared turned him out? While we enjoy the change, it looks just a little like the Court House clique had it in for the Judge.

The Republicans and Bull Moosers failed to "fuse" in Hancock. The Republicans offered the Moosers every county office if they would go under the "log cabin." They answered: "Nay! Nay! No log cabin in ours."

Clean-up day in Cloverport tomorrow! Mayor Barry should be given the co-operation of every man, woman and child in the town. Join in the crusade if it is only to pick up a piece of paper.

If you have a child going to school at C. H. S. give him fifty cents or a dollar to contribute to the concrete walk fund. Give the children today something far better than you had yesterday.

Frank DeHaven has withdrawn from the race for Sheriff. He decided that his business was more important than that of the office of Sheriff.

The umbrella man was in town Monday, ahead of the April showers that surely passed with the flood.

because it does gather every particle of thread, lint and hair, and does remove from a cupful to a quart of solid dirt from a rug after it has been beaten or otherwise cleaned. Our free trial offer allows you to prove these statements at our expense. This combination Sweeper-Vac gives three machines in one: (1) Combination vacuum cleaner and carpet sweeper. (2) Vacuum cleaner alone. (3) Carpet sweeper alone. It will be most generally used in its combination form. The little carpet sweeper in itself is most efficient, and used separately is so easy to "just brush up with" and get under low furniture. For the most thorough cleaning the combination must be used. There is only one genuine "Sweeper-Vac." If it is not manufactured by the Pneuvac Co., it is not a "Sweeper-Vac," nor is it protected by United States basic patent 996,810. CHAPTER VI.

THIS doesn't look much like our storehouse, does it?"
Jean paused in her task, and, seating herself upon the summit of a step-ladder, scrutinized with satisfaction
the transformation wrought
by a myriad of college flags, sofa cushions, colored shawls, and bunting.

Roberta Keap dropped her hammer with an exclamation of pain.
"Ouch!" she cried, "I've hurt my thumb. I can't hit where I look when people are talking."
"Why don't you pin them up?"
queried Miss Blake sweetly. "A hammer is so dangerous."
Mrs. Keap mumbled something, but her enunciation was indistinct, owing to the fact that her thumb was in her mouth. Helen finished tying a bow of ribbon upon the leg of a stool, patted it into proper form, then said:
"It looks cheerful."
"And restful," added Jean.
"Oh dear!" Jean descended from her precarious position and admitted, "I'm tired out."

All that morning the three had labored, busily transforming the storeroom into training-quarters for Speed, who had declared that such things were not only customary but necessary. To be sure, it adjoined the bunkroom, where the cowboys slept, and there were no gymnastic appliances to give it character, but it was the only space available, and what it lacked in horizontal bars, dumb-bells, and Indian clubs it more than compensated for by a cosy-corner, a window-seat,

Pinned the Medals Upon His Chest.

and many cushions. Speed had expressed his delight with the idea, and agreed to wait for a glimpse of it.

Of all the denizens of the Flying Heart but two failed to enter fully into the spirit of the thing. Berkeley Fresno looked on with a cynicism which he was too wise to display before Miss Blake. Seeing the lady of his dreams monopolized by a rival, however, inspired him to sundry activities, and he spent much of his time among the cowboys, whom he found profitable to the point of mystery.

Mrs. Keap, the youthful chaperon, seemed likewise mastered by some private trouble, and puzzled her companions vaguely. Helen reported that she did not sleep, and once Jean found her crying softly. She seemed, moreover, to be apprehensive, in a tremulous, reasonless way; but when with friendly sympathy they brought the subject up, she dismissed it. In spite of secret tears, she had lent willing hands to the decoration of the gymnasium, and now nursed her swollen thumb with surprising good nature.

"Shall we let them in?" she inquired. "We have done all we can."
"Yes; we have finished."

In a flutter of anticipation Jean and Helen put the final touches to their task, while Mrs. Keap stepped to the door and called Speed.

He came at once, followed by Larry Glass, who, upon grasping the scheme of decoration, smote his brow and balanced dizzily upon his heels. Speed was lost in admiration.

"It's wonderful!" ejaculated the young athlete. "Those college flags give it just the right touch. And see the cosy-corner!"

Glass regained his voice sufficiently to murmur, sarcastically, "Say, ain't this a swell-looking drum?"

Berkeley Fresno, drawn by the irresistible magnetism of Miss Blake's presence, wandered in and ran his eyes over the room.

"Why all the colors?" asked he.
"You can sing best where there is a piano. I can train best under the shadow of college emblems. I am a temperamental athlete."

"You'll be a dead athlete if you don't beat this cook." The Californian was angry.

"Indeed!" exclaimed his rival, air-ily.

"That's what I remarked. Did they tell you what happened to Humpy Joe,

your predecessor?"

"It must have been an accident, judging from his name." At which Miss Blake tittered. She was growing to enjoy these passages at arms; they thrilled her vaguely.

"The only accident connected with the affair was that Still Bill and Willie didn't have their guns." Glass started nervously. "Did these rummies want to shoot him?" he inquired.

"Certainly," said Fresno. "He lost a foot-race."

In spite of his assurance, J. Wallingford Speed felt a tremor of anxiety, but he laughed it off, saying:

"One would think a foot-race in this country was a pearl necklace."
"These cowboys ain't good losers, eh?" queried Glass.

"It's win or die out here."

During the ensuing pause Mrs. Keap took occasion to call Speed aside.
"I have something to contribute to the training-quarters if you will help me bring it out," said she.

The young man bowed. "Most gladly."

"We'll be back in a little while," the chaperon announced to the others, and a moment later, when she and Speed had reached the veranda of the house, she paused.

"I—I want to speak to you," she began, hesitatingly. "It was just an excuse."

Wally looked at her with concern, for it was plain that she was deeply troubled.

"What is it?"

"I have been trying to get a word alone with you ever since I heard about this foot-race." The young man chilled with apprehension as Mrs.
Keap turned her dark eyes upon him searchingly. "Why do you want to run?"

"To win back the cowboys' treasure. My heart is touched," he declared, boldly. Mrs. Keap smiled.

"I believe the latter, but are you sure you can win?"

"Abso-blooming-lutely."

"I didn't know you were a sprinter."

Speed shrugged his shoulders.

"Have you had experience?"

"Oceans of it!"

Mrs. Keap mused for a moment.

"Tell me," said she, finally, "at what inter-collegiate game did you run last?"

"I didn't run last; I ran first." It was impossible to resent the boy's smile.

"Then at what game did you last run? I hope I'm not too curious?"

"Oh no, not at all!" Speed stammered.

"Or, if it is easier, at what college games did you first run?" Mrs. Keap was laughing openly now.

"Why the clear, ringing, rippling laughter?" asked the young man, to cover his confusion.

"Because I think it is very funny."
"Oh, you do!" Speed took refuge behind an attitude of unbending dignity, but the young widow would have none of it.

"I know all about you," said she.
"You are a very wonderful person, of course; you are a delightful fellow at a house-party, and a most suitable individual generally, but you are not an athlete, in spite of those beautiful clothes in your trunk."

"Who told you?"

"Culver Covington."

"I didn't know you two were acquainted."

Mrs. Keap flushed. "He told me all about you long ago. You wear all the athletic clothes, you know all the talk, you have tried to make the team a dozen times, but you are not even a substitute. You are merely the Varsity cheer-leader. Culver calls you
"the head-yeller."

"Columbus has discovered our continent!" said Speed. "You are a very wise chaperon, and you must have a corking memory for names, but even a head-yeller is better than a glee-club quarter-back." He nodded toward the bunk-house, whence they had come.

"You haven't told anybody?"

"Not yet."

"Yet," he quoted. "The futurity implied in that word disturbs me.
Suppose you and I keep it for a little secret? Secrets are very delightful at house-parties."

"Don't you consider your action deceitful?"

"Not at all. My motto is 'We strive to please.'"

"Think of Helen."

"That's it; I can't think of anything else! She's mad about athletics, and I had to do something to stand off this weight-lifting tenor."

"Is it any wonder a woman distrusts every man she meets?" mused the chaperon. "Helen might forgive you, I couldn't."
"Oh, it's not that bad. I know what I'm doing."

"You will cause these cowboys to lose a lot more money."

"Not at all. When Culver arrives—"
"Oh, that is what I want to talk over with you," Mrs. Keap broke in, nervously.

"Then it isn't about the foot-race?
You are not angry?" Speed brightened amazingly.

"I'm not exactly angry; I'm surprised and grieved. Of course, I can't forgive deceit—I dare say I am more particular than most people."

"But you won't tell?" Mrs. Keap indicated in some subtle manner that she was not above making terms, whereupon her companion declared, warmly: "I'm yours for life! Ask me for my watch, my right eye, anything! I'll give it to you!"

"I assure you I shan't ask anything so important as that, but I shall ask a favor."

"Name it and it is yours!" Speed wring the hand she offered.

"And perhaps I can do more than keep silent—although I don't see what good it will do. Perhaps I can help your suit."

"Gracious lady, all I ask is that you thrust out your foot and trip up Berkeley Fresno whenever he starts toward her. Put him out of the play, and I shall be the happiest man in the world."

"Agreed."

"Now, in what way can I serve
you?"

Mrs. Keap became embarrassed, while the same shadowy trouble that had been observed of late settled upon her.

"I simply hate to ask it," she said,
"but I suppose I must. There seems to be no other way out of it." Turning to him suddenly, she said, in a low, intense voice: "I—I'm in trouble, Mr. Speed, such dreadful trouble!"

"Oh, I'm so sorry!" he answered her, with genuine solicitude. "You needn't have made any conditions. I would have done anything I could for you."

"That's very kind, for I don't like our air of conspiracy, but"—Mrs. Keap was wringing her slender hands—"I just can't tell the girls. You—you can help me."

Speed allowed her time to grow calm, when she continued:
"I—I am engaged to be married."

"Felicitations!"

"Not at all," said the young widow, wretchedly. "That is the awful part of it. I am engaged to two men!" She turned her brown eyes full upon him;
they were strained and tragic.

Speed felt himself impelled to laugh immoderately, but instead he observed, in a tone to relieve her anxiety:

"Nothing unusual in that; it has been done before. Even I have been prodigal with my affections. What can I do to relieve the congestion?"

"Please don't make light of it. It means so much to me. I—I'm in love with Jack Chapin."

"With Jack!"

"Yes. When I came here I thought I cared for somebody else. Why, I wanted to come here just because I knew that—that somebody else had been invited too, and we could be together."

"And he couldn't come—"

"Wait! And then, when I got here, I met Jack Chapin. That was less than a week ago, and yet in that short time I have learned that he is the only man I can ever love—the one man in all the world."

"And you can't accept because you have a previous engagement. I see!
Jove! It's quite dramatic. But I don't

"You'll Be a Dead Athlete if You Don't Beat This Cook."

see why you are so excited? If the other chap isn't coming—"

"But he is! That is what makes it so dreadful! If those two men should meet"—Mrs. Keap buried her face in her hands and shuddered—"there would be a tragedy, they are both so frightfully jealous." She began to tremble, and Speed laid a comforting hand upon her shoulder.

"I think you must be exciting yourself unduly," said he. "Jean's other friends didn't come. There's nobody due now but Culver Cov—"

"That's who it is!" Roberta raised her pallid face as the young man fell back.

"Culver! Great Scott! Why, he's engaged—"

"What!"

"Nothing! I—I—" Speed paused, at an utter loss for words.

"You see, he'll discover the truth."

"Does he know you are here?"

"No. I intended to surprise him. I was jealous. I couldn't bear to think of his being here with other girls—men are so deceitful! That's why I consented to act as chaperon to Helen.
And now to think that I should have met my fate in Jack Chapin!"

"I see. You want me to break the news to Culver."

"No! no!" Mrs. Keap was aghast.
"If he even suspected the truth he'd

A FARM CHEAP AND WHY IT IS CHEAP!

FIRST—Because it is a good farm, fertile land, lays well, slightly rolling, does not wash; nearly every acre is tillable; it has southern exposure; it will produce crops from two to four weeks earlier than land lying on northern hill side.

SECOND—It is in the garden spot of Breckinridge county;
land on all sides sells from $35 to $40 an acre.

THIRD—It is near the railroad.

FOURTH—It grows wheat, corn, tobacco oats, cow peas ever, all kinds of grass.

become a raging lion. Oh, I've been quite distracted ever since Jack left!" "Well, what am I to do? You must have some part laid out for me?" "I have. A desperate situation demands a desperate remedy. I've lost all conscience. That's why I agreed to protect you if you'd protect me."

"Go ahead." "Culver is your friend." "We're closer than a chord in G." "Then you must wire him."

"I have—"

"Not to come." "What!" J. Wallingford Speed started as if a wasp had stung him. "You must wire him at once not to come. I don't care what excuse you give, but stop him. Stop him!"

Speed reached for a pillar; he felt that the porch was spinning slowly beneath his feet. "Oh, see here, now! I can't do that!" "You promised!" cried Mrs. Keap, fiercely. "I have tried to think of something to tell him, but I'm too frightened."

"Yes, but—but I—want him here—for this foot-race." Wally swallowed bravely.

"Foot-race!" stormed the widow, indignantly. "Would you allow an insignificant thing like a foot-race to wreck a human life? Two human lives? Three?"

"Can't you wire him?"

Mrs. Keap stamped her foot. "If he dreamed I was here he would hire a special train. No! It must come from you. You are his best friend."

"What can I say?" demanded the bewildered Speed, unhappily.

"I don't care what you say, I don't care what you do—only do something, and do it quickly before he has time to leave Chicago." Then sensing the hesitation in her companion's face:

"Or perhaps you prefer to have Helen know the deceit you have practiced upon her? And I fancy these cowboys would resent the joke, don't you? What do you think would happen if they discovered their champion to be merely a cheer-leader with a trunkful of new clothes, who can't do a single out-door sport—not one?"

"Wait!" Speed mopped his brow with a red-and-blue silk handkerchief. "I do my best."

"Then I shall do my part." And Mrs. Keap, who could not bear deception, turned and went indoors while J. Wallingford Speed, a prey to sundry misgivings, stumbled down the steps, his head in a whirl.

Good House Emulsion.

The following emulsion has given excellent results in ridding house plants of mealy bugs and scales: One pound of good white soap, melted, and add to it, while hot, one teacup of coal oil. Mix one part of this emulsion with ten parts of water and use as a spray to dislodge the pests. Keep in bottles well corked and after routing the enemy apply once in a while as a preventive.

Saved!

"I refused to be operated on, the morning I heard about Cardui," writes Mrs. Elmer Sickler, of Terre Haute, Ind. "I tried Cardui, and it helped me greatly. Now, I do my own washing and ironing."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Cardui is a mild, tonic remedy, purely vegetable, and acts in a natural manner on the delicate, womanly constitution, building up strength, and toning up the nerves. In the past 50 years, Cardui has helped more than a million women. You are urged to try it, because we are sure that it will do you good.

LARGE REWARD FOR HONESTY

A wealthy man died in Brussels, leaving nearly the whole of his fortune to a young woman who was entirely unacquainted with him.

He was a very eccentric man, and set out, like Diogenes, in search of an honest man. His "tub" was an omnibus, and his lantern a small coin. In the omnibus he took his seat near the conductor, and always showed himself very obliging, passing up the money of passengers and returning the change, but to the latter he always managed to add a franc, or a half-franc. Then he would watch those to whom it came. They would count it carefully; notice the extra coin, and invariably slip it into their pockets. No one thought of the poor conductor, whose meager salary of three francs a day could ill spare such a loss.

But at last a young woman passed hers back with: "Conductor, you have given me half a franc too much."

"Diogenes," delighted, followed her home, made inquiries, and as the answers were satisfactory, made his will in her favor, though he never gave her warning that her half-franc was going to bring her a million.

Look to Your Plumbing.

You know what happens in a house in which the plumbing is in poor condition—everybody in the house is liable to contract typhoid or some other fever. The digestive organs perform the same functions in the human body as the plumbing does for the house, and they should be kept in first class condition all the time. If you have any trouble with your digestion take Chamberlain's Tablets and you are certain to get quick relief. For sale by all dealers.

CONGRESS WILL AID OHIO CITIES.

Cincinnati, O.—After visiting the flood-stricken cities of Hamilton and Dayton, Senator Atlee Pomerene, who was here en route to Washington, said that he was of the opinion that Congress should and would pass a bill providing an appropriation for the relief of the devastated districts of Ohio. He said that he was very much impressed by what he had seen, and that the nation, state and the individual should assist in rehabilitating the fortunes lost in the rush of waters, not in the literal sense, but in the interests of humanity.

"The conditions at Hamilton and Dayton beggar description," said the senator. "The greatest problem will come after the reaction has set in, and I hope that the good people of the country will open their purses, and keep their purses open, until these poor unfortunates are properly able to feed, clothe and house themselves."

"In Dayton alone there are about 17,000 houses damaged by the water. Up to the present time these citizens have been living in a period of tense suspense, and when the reaction comes, they will be, perhaps, more in need of help than they are now. I believe that Congress will help them—it ought to—and I am sure that the state will."

Cough Medicine for Children.

Too much care cannot be used in selecting a cough medicine for children. It should be pleasant to take, contain no harmful substance and be most effective. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy meets these requirements and is a favorite with the mothers of young children everywhere. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

Burial Place of Porter Clay.

In the old cemetery at Camden, Arkansas, the body of Porter Clay, brother of Henry Clay, has reposed since his death in 1850. He was admitted to the bar in Kentucky, became state auditor, but began to preach in the Baptist churches, and in time consecrated himself to that work. Finally he removed with his family to Illinois, where a dispute with his church authorities compelled him to resign a pastorate. Soon afterward he became a wandering evangelist, going to Camden in that capacity and founding a church. He died there in 1850, two years before his illustrious brother. During all the years that have passed the women of this little church have cared for his grave. At first they marked it with a headboard, but the New Century Club of Camden erected a stone slab over the grave.

"Suffered day and night the torment of itching piles. Nothing helped me until I used Doan's Ointment. The result was lasting."—Hon. John R. Garrett, Mayor, Girard, Ala.—Adv.

PUT THEM ALL TO WORK.

Unproductive acres must be fenced. Taxes must be paid on them. The interest on the money invested in them is lost. Some labor must be put on them even if they are idle, and that is lost. Every unproductive acre is a liability and not an asset to the farmer, and the sooner he realizes this fact the better off he will be.—National Stockman and Farmer.

DRESS FOR YOUNG GIRL

The simplest style of dress this, and one of the nicest for everyday wear. Our model is in fine nut brown serge. The bodice and skirt are cut separately and are joined to the same waist band; two tucks are made in each on both sides of front, they are stitched part way down; the sleeves are set in large armholes with wrapped seams; a turn-over collar and silk bow finish the neck.

Material required for the dress: 2½ yards 46 inches wide.

Straight at It.

There is no use of our "beating around the bush." We might as well out with it first as last. We want you to try Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the next time you have a cough or cold. There is no reason so far as we can see why you should not do so. This preparation by its remarkable cures has gained a world wide reputation, and people everywhere speak of it in the highest terms of praise. It is for sale by all dealers.—Adv.

EXPERIENCED MAN.

Wife—Is my hat on straight?
Hubby—I presume it is on the way you want it. It is not on horizontally.

COMMISSIONER'S SALE.

Breckenridge Circuit Court, Kentucky.

E. F. Shellman & Co., Plaintiff.

Equity No. 3486.

By virtue of a Judgment and Order of Sale of Breckenridge Circuit Court, rendered at February Term thereof, 1913, in the above cause, for the sale of the hereinafter described real estate, all costs herein, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Court House door in Hardinsburg, to the highest bidder, at Public Auction, on Monday, the 28th day of April, 1913, at 1 o'clock p. m., or thereafter (being County Court day), upon a credit of six and twelve months, the following described property, to-wit: A certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in Breckenridge county, State of Kentucky, and bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a white and red oak stumps and small hickory and persimmon marked fresh, running thence with the original line S. 54, W. 10 poles to a stake; thence S. 30, E. 43 3/4 poles to another stake near same tree pointers to the same; thence N. 38 E. 16 poles to a white oak same course continued, in all 32½ poles to two beeches; thence S. 63, E. 80 poles to two small dogwoods; thence S. 36½, E. 32 poles to a gum; thence S. 75; E. 106 poles to two white oaks and two hickories in one of the original lines; thence with the same N. 58, E. 38 poles to an ash and white oak, one of the deeded corners, thence with another of said lines N. 36½, W. 220 poles to a black oak and to the beginning, and said land was formerly the property of Cyrus Bruner, and upon his death descended to his heirs.

The purchaser, with approved surety or securities, must execute bond, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid, and having the force and effect of a judgment. Lien retained to secure payment of purchase money. Bidders will be prepared to comply promptly with these terms.

LEE WALLS,
Commissioner.

Popular Footgear.

A neat evening shoe is of bronze kid, with a front of chiffon to match, drawn through a gilt buckle.

Suede shoes with patent vamps will be much worn. A dressy little model has the suede upper, bordered with patent leather and fastened by a series of patent strappings, each ornamented by a tiny crystal button down the center. The actual fastening is, however, made by means of bone buttons down the outside of the shoe.

The favorite boot of glaze leather has a gray suede gaiter top combined with fine glaze, and the fastenings are smoked pearl buttons to match. Elastic sides, however, are not unknown, the buttons being more ornamental than useful.

Innocent.

"I try to think," said Benham, "that woman is the equal of man and as well qualified to take part in the political life; but it sort of jars that belief to get the reply I did this morning from my wife, when I remarked, on reading the returns, that Bingham ran ahead of his ticket, and she innocently inquired, 'What was his hurry?'"—Judge.

Buy Land and Make Money

Your easiest way to make money is to buy land in Breckenridge county! Western land has had its day. Old Kentucky is the ideal spot in all this country for climate, for good crops, for good living, for good people, and good, long life. Breckenridge county has better and cheaper facilities for reaching the markets—two railroads and the Ohio river. The people are prosperous and land is cheap. Now is your time to buy. Land has advanced from 25 to 50, per cent in the last ten years. In another ten years, land will leap another 50 per cent. Get in now while the start is cheap.
